ticians, actuaries and financiers in the country.

Though the business of Life Assurance is large and growing, it is not of the magnitude commonly supposed by the public. In a population estimated at some forty millions, less than six hundred thousand lives were insured on the 1st day of January, 1869, in the United States; and the disharsements made bear so admirable a proportion to the receipts, that the financial interests of a country are in no way affected or disturbed. To establish this important fact the following statistics are given;

The new regulations concerning dis Treasury Department, and known as Series 5, No. 7, have caused the inquiry to be made whether a package or keg containing five gallons required a stamp, the Mail Train makes direct connection for regulations before mentioned seeming to indicate the contrary. TREASURY DEPARTMENT, OFFICE OF INTERNAL REVENUE, WASHINGTON, September 13, 1869. Sir: Your letter of the 7th instant, o the subject of stamping five gallon packages of spirits, has been received. You remark that you infer, from Series 5, No. 7, supplement No. 1, that said packages do not require stamps, and you request to be informed whether your in-

In reply, I have to say that section 25, of the act of July 20, 1809, requires that ALL packages of distilled spirits filled on the premises of a wholesale design for shipment, sale or delivery, shall be gauged, inspected and stamped by a United States gauger. This section provides no limit to the size of packages, but the language is general, and includes all packages of the general, and includes all packages of the wholesale liquor dealer. Under the provision of section 1, of the act of April 10, 1850, this class of dealers are limited in their sales to five gallons as their minimum. But all their packages filled as above must be stamped, guaged and inspected. This is a plain and imperative provision of the law.

facilities for doing a large business, and yet we see her almost in a state of decline, or if not declining, is certainly not doing what she ought to do. Memphis is doing but little better—Memphis, the center of the great Mississippi Valley, situated midway between the great cities of New Orleans and St. Louis—surrounded by an area of country whose extent and richnost is not aurpassed even by the famous ness is not surpassed even by the famous delta of the Nile, she ought to be the very center of trade and attraction of the West. Her facilities are not surpassed by any other city this side the Alleghenies; yet we see other cities snatching her laurels and gobbling the trade that she is legiti-mately entitled to.

Now there must be a reason for this, and in easting about I can find but one. It is taxation. Every species of business is taxed to such an extent that prosperity is almost an impossibility. It is true the merchants of both Memphis and Nashville compete with the mer-chants of other cities, but the trade is not remunerative. In fact, I may say that they almost submit to a sacrifice. Now, while this state of things exist, foreign capital will not come to Tennes-ace. Something must be done to relieve our people, and, at the same time, hold out inducements to capitalists to come
